

Little Bells Newsletter

Week Ending 04.05.18

Badge Winner - Eryn Wilkins-Hayes

This week we have zoomed to space on our rockets. We have been learning about space, the planets, astronauts and gravity. The children have been junk modelling and created some masterpieces, which are on display in the classroom.

On Welly Walk Wednesday a spaceship landed in the field, it had dropped lots of space rocks. The children collected them all up in the comet rain (hailstones) and we counted them and ordered them by size.

This week the children have been working with Mrs Potter to make their own book about Little Bells. They have shared what they like doing best at Little Bells and their favourite toys to play with.

For Literacy we have been reading, Whatever Next, by Jill Murphy about a bear that goes to the moon on a rocket. The children have re-told the story in their own words, we have identified the main character and where the story takes place.

We have learnt a new song called 'Little Men in a Flying Saucer,' we have learnt some actions to this song and will continue it next week.

We are having a Royal Stay and Play on Friday 18th May to celebrate the Royal wedding this is for parents/carers and grandparents and will be from 2.30pm until 3.15pm. We hope you can make it.

Reminders:

Monday 7th May - Closed for Bank Holiday, let's hope we get some nice weather!

Have a good weekend,

Mrs Drugan
