

Little Bells Newsletter

Week Ending 12th February 21

This week, we have enjoyed lots of activities to celebrate Chinese New Year. We have watched a family prepare for their celebration on cbeebies, made Chinese lanterns, painted pictures of Chinese Plum Blossom trees, re-built The Great Wall of China on our welly walk. We danced, listened to stories and music and tasted some popular Chinese food consisting of prawn crackers, egg fried rice and noodles. The children loved tasting the food but by far the most popular was the prawn crackers followed by the noodles.

By now you should have received an email about the parents evening scheduled for the week we return to school after half term. Please email me to book a date and time indicated on the email. I will do my very best to accommodate everyone. The telephone call will last approximately 10 minutes and will update you on your child's progress.

Please can I ask all parents to check their children's fleeces, as a few children have lost theirs. Thank you in advance.

Little Bells Homework! During half term, please can you encourage your child to put their coats and hats on independently. Just arms through sleeves as zipping up and buttoning can still be a little tricky for some children. I appreciate that sometimes it's quicker and easier for parents to do it for them, however this is important for their self-help development.

Have a lovely half time break, we look forward to seeing you on the 22nd February

Keep well and safe!
